

A QUICK REFERENCE GUIDE

for placing identifiers and publisher's information in printed and PDF publications

Publisher's information about the publication comprises several elements: the edition notice, back cover elements and the publicity notice.

The proposed order of these elements is from front to back, but this can be adjusted according to need and updated as appropriate.

The layout can be adapted, where necessary, based on the design of the individual publication; the type and size of font of the publisher's information can also be changed.

Please note that some elements are mandatory (red), conditional (yellow) or optional (green).
