The Commission draws attention to the judgment given on 30 April 1996 in the 'CIA Security' case (C-194/94), in which the Court of Justice ruled that Articles 8 and 9 of Directive 83/189/EEC are to be interpreted as meaning that individuals may rely on them before the national court which must decline to apply a national technical regulation which has not been notified in accordance with the Directive.

This judgment confirms the Commission's communication of 1 October 1986 (OJ C 245, 1.10.1986, p. 4).

Accordingly, breach of the obligation to notify renders the technical regulations concerned inapplicable, so that they are unenforceable against individuals.

Information on these notifications can be obtained from the national administrations, a list of which was published in Official Journal of the European Communities C 324 of 30 October 1996.

Non-opposition to a notified concentration

(Case No IV/M.1235 — New Holland/Orenstein & Koppel)

(1999/C 124/08)

(Text with EEA relevance)

On 18 December 1998, the Commission decided not to oppose the above notified concentration and to declare it compatible with the common market. This decision is based on Article 6(1)(b) of Council Regulation (EEC) No 4064/89. The full text of the decision is only available in Italian and will be made public after it is cleared of any business secrets it may contain. It will be available:
